

Knozone Action Day Announced for June 9

A Knozone Action Day has been declared for Indianapolis, IN, on Saturday, Jun 9

Today and Tomorrow's Forecast

Friday, Jun 8:	Moderate		Particle Pollution (2.5 microns)
Saturday, Jun 9:	Unhealthy for Sensitive Groups		Ozone

Extended Forecast

Sunday, Jun 10:	Moderate		Particle Pollution (2.5 microns)
Monday, Jun 11:	Moderate		Particle Pollution (2.5 microns)

Take action to protect your health!

During a Knozone Air Quality Action Day, the region's air quality may become unhealthy for individuals who are sensitive to air pollutants, including:

- o Children
- o Senior citizens
- o People with breathing-related illnesses, such as asthma
- o Those who are active outdoors

The Indianapolis Office of Sustainability encourages sensitive groups to reduce prolonged or heavy exertion outdoors on Knozone Air Quality Action Days.

People who have any concerns about how air pollution affects their health should seek the advice of a physician.

Everyone has a role in improving Indianapolis' air quality, not only on Knozone Air Quality Action Days, but all year long. Learn how you can help at www.knozone.com or call (317) 327-4AIR.